

10th JDM Meeting for Early-career Researchers Call for Submissions

We are delighted to announce the 10th JDM Meeting for early-career researchers. It will take place from May 31st until June 2nd 2017 and it returns to where it first started a decade ago - the Max Planck Institute for Research on Collective Goods in Bonn.

The JDM meeting is an annual event organized and run by PhD students for other early-career researchers. It offers a platform for PhD students and early postdocs active in the Judgment and Decision Making community to present and discuss recent research and ideas with their colleagues in an open and relatively informal atmosphere.

In addition to participants' contributions, there will be a keynote lecture by Prof. Armin Falk (University of Bonn, Center for Economics and Neuroscience, and Behavior and Inequality Research Institute) as well as workshops and social events.

Submissions and registrations without submissions for the meeting are open now until March 31st 2017 at <http://bit.do/JDMWorkshop>. We especially welcome applications from the fields of psychology, economics, cognitive sciences, neuroscience, and other areas concerned with the human judgment and decision making.

Date: May 31st until June 2nd, 2017

Location: MPI for Research on Collective Goods in Bonn, Germany

Registration deadline: March 31st, 2017

Participation fee: None

Please forward this call to those who might be interested. For further questions, please contact us at decision-workshop@gmx.de.
